Notice to Subscribers

The information in this credit report is provided in confidence to the subscriber. To protect the privacy of the subject of this report, the subscriber has an obligation to make this credit report available ONLY to its authorized employees and agents on a "need to know" basis.

If the obligor is denied credit on the basis of information in this report it is recommended that a copy of the report be provided to the obligor. This enables the obligor to dispute information that may have been inaccurately reported or is out of date, ensuring that credit report information is up to date and useful.

Sources of Credit Information

The information in this report is provided by institutions with which the obligor has conducted business on credit. These institutions may include banks, mortgage lenders, telecom operators, retail stores, utility companies, finance companies, credit card issuers, government agencies, etc. Information such as bankruptcies and court judgments may come from public records available through the various court systems in the country.

Duration of Information on File

Positive information can remain on an obligor's record indefinitely. Negative information - derogatory and delinquent information - can remain for up to seven years from the date the account was last updated; bankruptcy information can remain for up to 10 years.

Dispute Resolution Process

If the obligor finds inaccurate information in this credit report, the obligor may contact CreditRegistry by email at disputes@creditregistry.ng or by phone before January 22, 2025.

Each "dispute research request" must include:

1. The obligor's detailed identification information, including full legal name, BVN and date of birth for persons, RC Number and date of incorporation for businesses, current mailing address, contact phone numbers (to speed up communication if necessary, during dispute research).
2. This report reference number 9824 , the account number of the account being disputed, and copies of relevant documents, such as payment slips, etc., to challenge the dispute. If incomplete information about the dispute is provided, CreditRegistry cannot investigate the disputed information.

CreditRegistry will attempt to research the dispute and notify the obligor within 10 days of receiving the "dispute research request". Subscribers are obligated to respond to "dispute research requests" within 5 days of receiving such request from CreditRegistry.

If, after investigating a dispute, the subscriber that provided the disputed information insists on its accuracy, both the obligor and the subscriber may add comments to the disputed account to inform future recipients of the credit report.

When CreditRegistry corrects information on an obligor's account as a result of a dispute, CreditRegistry will notify all subscribers that have received the obligor's credit report within the previous 90 days at the obligor's request.

Please contact us at (01) 454-8700 if there are other questions regarding this credit report.

Thank you for your patronage.
